

Decorate your table with linen

Description

‘Â ‘Â I’ve never been to the south of France and I may not get to visit anytime in the near future.’Â However, that little detail is not going to halt my imagination. ‘Â That’s why I love decorating my dining table with a little rustic French charm.’Â This is understated beauty at it’s best.

To instantly transport yourself to the south of France, linen is your secret weapon.’Â It is that simple. ‘Â This unassuming fabric can transform your table into a modest yet charming venue.’Â It has the ability to drift between informal and formal occasions with an ease not found in many fabrics.

‘Â There are many ways you can go about revamping your dining room.’Â With just the addition of linen tablecloth, you can give your dining room a whole new personality.’Â A rustic linen makes an ideal tablecloth that is both functional and beautiful.’Â Not only does it add a charming element to your room, but it is easy to clean!’Â Try a white linen with a couple stripes running through it, or even a canvas colored linen.’Â Then watch how your room changes into a completely new environment.

‘Â A table runner is good for everyday use and creates a polished, yet cozy, look to your dining room.’Â It is a small element, I know, but it really works wonders when it comes to elevating your table to a new level.’Â A simple runner with some flower in the center of your table creates the ultimate French touch of simplicity and class.

Napkins and placemats needn’t be stowed away until formal dinners any longer.’Â When made of linen, these products remain modest enough for any occasion.’Â They are soft and lovely to the touch, so your family or guests will love the feel of them.’Â They carry a rustic charm inherently found in linen.

Now all you need to complete your south of France escape is a nice baguette and a bottle of wine. ‘Â You can transport yourself effortlessly and be praised for your prowess as an interior designer.
